Under the direction of Coach Barbera Bridges, the girls' basketball team finished 14-0 in the Central Vermont Girls league. Relying on starters Sherrie Potter, Michele Arbour, Judy Ketchum, Kathy Kellogg and Kathy Bradder, Trish O'Neill or Robin Goodspeed the girls devastated their opponents. An injury to potential starter Karen Roberts drained the teams depth, but, a strong bench of Sue O'Neill, Ellen Blanchard, Jill Larson, and Maureen Lovett made up the difference. Also important were the managers Jeanne Little, Marsha Camp, Judy Ryan, and Mary Densmore.'

In tournament play during the playoffs Rutland beat Brattleboro in an exciting overtime game. Unfortunately, Bellows Falls proved to be too strong in a quarter final game.

Rutland girl's basketball looks forward to next years team with eight returning players.

The 1973-74 Indoor Track season gave this year's seniors the honor and pleasure of being crowned State Indoor Champions. The ultimate achievement arose out of countless, long hours and the team spirit that formed in running together in the cramped, airless lower halls.

Co-Capts. Mark Flynn and Mike Garofano were the focal points of leadership and determination that played a special part in this season's pressure performances in the big meets. After finishing second in the UVM Christmas Invitational, the Raiders swept through the rest of their season undefeated. The high points seemed to be the resounding win of the New England Qualifying Meet and a gutsy come-from-behind edging of defending State Champions Springfield, in the State Meet, 54 to 50½. Individual senior performances to remember: Duane Larsen's school record 1:16.0 that earned him a third place in the No. New England Meet, (the fastest 600 yd. time every run by a Vt. schoolboy indoors); Jeff Ellis' 32.7 that qualified him as the fastest time in No. New England this year.

It was a season to remember with pride, and a performance for the younger members of the team to emulate in the future.

Coach Greg McClellen had reason to be pleased with this strong Raider team. Though not showing team success, individual standouts highlighted the year and made up for the loss of a title.

Captain Mark Flynn consistently placed high with strong showings. Complementing him was junior Walt Ferrell, who placed in the top five at every conference meet.

Next year's team should show the results of hard work by these Raider runners. The success of juniors John Jaworski, Brien Marquard, Pete Rushford, and Walt Ferrell points to an excellent season next year.

The R.H.S. girls' gymnastics team did not have a winning season. But, in many respects they did not lose. The small, eight girl team, coached by Miss Lynn Kelley, did not place last in Southern Districts and had two wins against Green Mountain. The girls learned many new moves and had an enjoyable season.

Junior dominated, team members were sophomore Leslie Reuling; juniors Debi Miglis, Shelly Fredette; Pam Trapeni; Linda Ransom and Captain Pepper Sneff. The girls look forward to next year when the graduates of the ninth grade team will boost both the size and talent of the high school team.

Girl's Athletic Association

The Girl's Athletic Association is an organization of all girls who participate in athletics. The G.A.A. sold football programs this season and made approximately $75 dollars in three games. Much of this money was used to buy a record case for girl's track and field. The G.A.A. also hopes to have a trophy case made this year for girl's athletics.

Another activity of this year was the "Roller Rally" in January. Even though the attendance was poor, most of the people who went had a good time. The Athletic Association had a concession sale at the Senior Play and made $38 dollars in two nights.

Due to limited attendance at meetings and activities, the G.A.A. has not been exceptionally active. Other plans were made for the spring season which included swimming, bike hiking, hiking, a pool party, and a picnic, depending on the girl's interests.

Block R

GO RAIDERS

Block "R" which was started several years ago by Henry LePage is the mainstay of school spirit at Rutland High. Enthusiastic members have been drumming up school spirit throughout the football and basketball seasons. Although there seemed to be a lull in school spirit, the Block managed to overcome this and had a very active year. Under the leadership of their new advisor, Mrs. Kathy Fagan, President Kevin Congdon, Vice-President Anne Jarrosak, and Secretary-Treasurer Gretchen Morgan; the productive members spent many a Friday afternoon on the corner of Merchants Row and Center Street selling spirit boosters in the form of antenna flags and decals, thronged the football stands to the point where they broke from the exuberance emanating from the crowd, displaying their artistic talent at numerous painting parties, revived the outward appearance of the school grounds, brought joy to the hearts of many with their Christmas Carols, tempted many Rutland residents with their luscious goodies at a bake sale, made a splash with the administration when they painted the stands scarlet red and snowy white, brought back the flair of 50's with a costume contest, and acquired a new look with their snappy red and white Block "R" shirts displaying the Raider mascot. All in all, it was one "heck" of a year!

Some of Your Talisman Heroes . . .

Publishing a yearbook is a tremendous endeavor. It requires cooperation between solicitors, photographers, typists, editors and countless others. So you see, a yearbook is not created by one, two, or even twenty people.

The editors of the Talisman sincerely hope that all underclassmen give serious consideration to joining next years staff. While all organizations suffer from declining participation, the Talisman cannot afford to. The Talisman is not all work; it has something to offer. It's hard to explain the feeling one feels after he or she has helped create something really big.

We hope this book is a true representation of the '73-'74 Year, and that the memories compiled are good ones for you. We wish you happiness and love.

Church's Corner

THE FORUM

by Bill Turnbeau

Have you ever thought about why your life has the particular pattern that it does? There is always some force that causes the pattern, this force is called the system. Within the system itself there are many factors that combine to make the system what it is; a controlling factor of your life.

I was prompted to write this editorial after seeing the movie "Walking Tall." That movie was perhaps the best and most impressionable movie that I have ever seen. It dealt with a man and his conquest of the particular system that was controlling his life. The movie had a definite moral: whatever system controls you, you're going to fight it at some point and you will win. All right, I know, but the movie was a good example of a system. The price that you are willing to pay depends upon how much of a hold the system has on you and how much freedom means to you. Of course Buford's case was an extreme, not all systems cost so much to overcome and not everyone has the personal fortitude that he did.

A system may take many forms and affect anyone. A system isn't discriminatory yet it may be discrimination. A system doesn't play favorites yet it may be favoritism. A system may be a complex yet it might not be very complex. A system may be senseless yet it may make all the sense in the world to bear it. If your life has definite patterns that you feel are constricting and you aren't causing the stress then there is an outside force, the system. Don't give in to it, it's like a living death.

American Field Service

Meet Tania Romero From Brazil

Life gives us many wonderful opportunities; one of the greatest that I've had is to find friends beyond my homeland.

Through the American Field International Scholarship, I am able to see that people are people everywhere, which is the actual goal of the organization. AFS attempts to promote world understanding by interchanging experiences. It accomplishes this by sending young people abroad, by working for peaceful coexistence on earth, and by giving the student chances to grow.

Here a multicolored foreign scenery has unraveled in front of me; the school spirit alive in each game, and the red and white colors exploding at pep-rallies among enthusiastic tears, the noisy rush of class changes, the football games with the funny suits, sliding parties and snowball fights — (I am from a tropical country, and it is never cold enough to snow there), the fun of dances, casual get-to-gatherers, the colorful fall, and a whole list of "new" situations.

I'm not just going to keep in mind those unforgettable moments, but rather relive them with love whenever possible.

A Little Night Music

To almost taste the darkness
As the moon light straining through
A solitary scene
Splashes what near-transparencies
Pour from His wounds
Upon the frozen marble floor-
The sky is bleeding

Run your sweating palms along
The tarnished filigree and sigh
Or sing a song your mother taught you
A cappella, In hot wind, and He Dwells here amid the heavy air,
the moistened silence
And your whispered multitude of sins
So it begins

Now rest your cheek against the altar,
Inlaid gold, His prophecies and fears
In obvious question,
Sink your jelly knees into purple velvet cushion,
Let your briny tears
Fall soft upon mahogany
And carved ivory crosses
Restless sleep —
His wayward sheep

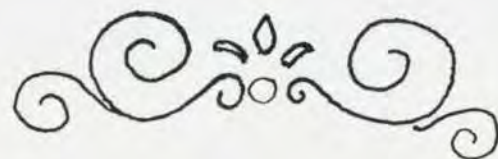

O holy Jesus, Lord devine
We pray thee guard this child of thine

Aftermath

A concrete path,
A half starved youth.
Vague memories:
A peaceful day,
Everybody chatting,
Scream of a Siren,
Roar of a jet,
Whistle of projectiles,
A ball of flame,
A hellish explosion,
No life.
He now knows,
A teardrop on battered asphalt,
A lonely trail in the upturned soil.

— Donald Bartenstein

To Dance

To dance is to fly on the wings of a song,
To glide in and out of the melody clouds
To love; and to feel in the depth of your heart
That you're more than real.

But earthly songs slow down and die,
Folding earth wings and melting earth rhyme,
Dissolving earth love for things only real.

Again you dance, but on heavenly wings.
You soar and you glide to ethereal strings.
You float in the heavens, are one with the sky
And will dance forever, for this music won't die.

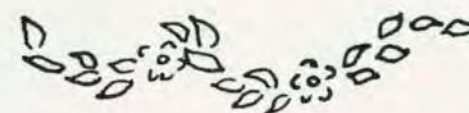

— Harriet Squier

Time?

Darkness encompasses like empty space,
Behind eyelids,
Free now to float —
Think,
Private peace,
Solitude ...
Puncture old thoughts,
Mend and piece,
Try for perfection ...
Private war,
Singular questions fight for acknowledgement,
No time ...
Light persists.
Darkness sighs.

Karen Ellison

Rock-a-bye

Crimson in Time's fathered cradle
(Satyriized by rime and riddle)
Lulled to sleep by rocking scythe
I lay me down to gentle death

And not recoil, not mad-writhe,
But break as easily as the grass
That fallowfalls at harvestbreath
To let the further dayspans pass

Nor scream in brittle pangs of age,
Nor youthful whining for a song
But feel the cradle swing, and gauge,
The fall from where the limb had hung.

— Ginger Sneff

Due to the overcrowding situation at Rutland High School, which has seemed to come to a peak as of this year, extra-curricular activities have been difficult to "squeeze-in". Space, free rooms, have been unbelievably hard to find, usually only found available between 3:00 and 4:30. Arena scheduling, introduced for the first time has been another item which activities have had to contend with. This new method enables the student to choose his subject, teacher, and class period. EDUCATION is the most important function of this school — of any school. However, the growth of an individual isn't an accomplished solely through the use of books and papers, but rather through involvement.

In his visit to Rutland High, Mayor Gilbert Godnick spoke of the apathy of many students in regards to their school. Overcrowding, lack of time, space, and arena scheduling are all great excuses for uninvolvement on our part in various activities, but maybe these problems should merely be looked at as obstacles that CAN be overcome.

Rutland High School is not just a building; Rutland High School is the student body. What lies much deeper than walls, carpeting, or curtains — all physical objects — is a sense of pride, commonly referred to as "school spirit". Through activities we are able to work with others towards a common goal of school betterment.

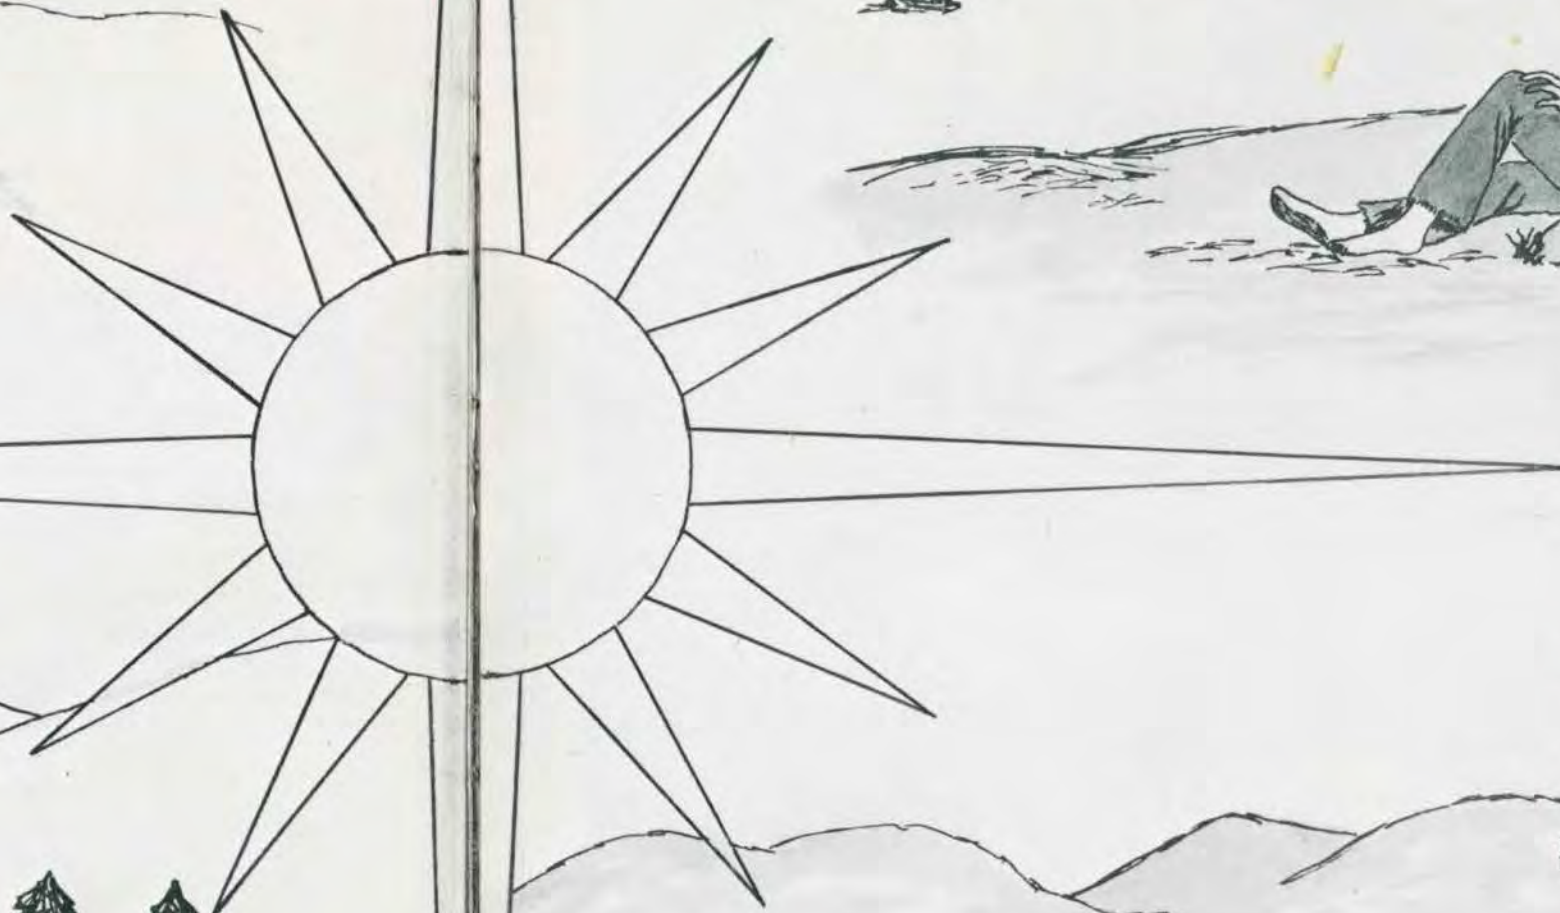

Many activities have again been omitted this year, such as the Key Club, Debate Club, and the Foreign Language Clubs. Could this be due to the overcrowding situation, or is it assimilated with the apathy that Mayor Godnick spoke of? Despite certain drawbacks, many of the current clubs have far surpassed previous years in both accomplishment and spirit. VICA, Music organizations, Soccer Club, Art Club, Student Council, Secretarial Club, GAA, Talisman, Athletics, Honor Society, Block R, Outing Club, Red and White, and DUO have all played a major role in our High School's life, and are EQUALLY important in the growth and the betterment of RHS.

Each individual is very special and a valuable part in the growth of Rutland High School. I challenge the future classes of RHS to get involved in the offered activities; to continue to make this a school to be proud of.

laugh ages yon when the years were young pebbled walk, scarred building, crying hall;
 shuffle, shuffle, shuffle . . .
 open door

 deride the elbowed desks of children
 stale blackboards, alphabet ghosts, wood dust;
 shadowed, shattered, decimals . . .
 color poor

 winter-breathing winds peruse the cracks of window glass;
 chill-cold coughs of crying shoddens clap the tattered sash;
 glazed reflections —
 frosted face —
 crystallized eyes —
 whispered vapors warm the image

 release the plaster walls and call the past gummed ceiling, brown edges, bared bulbs;
 shy, shapeless, corners . . .
 mottled floor

 again the settled, restless feeling temporary paint, more so lives, taking leave;
 shallow, muffled goodbyes . . .
 close door

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
I tell you of the future that I planned;
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterward remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.
